At the forefront of science at EWEC 2010

The EWEC conference programme features sessions of the highest scientific and technical quality, thanks to a rigorous review procedure and contributions from a wide range of wind energy professionals.

EWEC 2010 will once again feature a series of scientific sessions, which are developed in conjunction with the European Academy for Wind Energy.

All presentations in the scientific track are carefully selected and peer-reviewed by a panel of Academy-nominated scientists, so that delegates are provided with the latest information from the cutting edge of wind energy research.
